KLUDI COCKPIT Discovery

The high art of simplicity

Aircraft and sports car cockpits are tailored to their users, focusing on maximum clarity and simplicity. Intuitive operation is crucial in both cases. This operating concept served as our inspiration during the development of the KLUDI COCKPIT Discovery shower system. Its control elements are limited to temperature adjustment and flow regulation for the head and handheld showers. Simply turning the controls takes you to the ideal setting – operation is effortless and easy for both young and old users. Unambiguous and clearly visible pictograms illustrate the functions.

Utmost ease of use for a more enjoyable shower experience

Creating something special calls for attention to be paid to every detail. And for a willingness to double-check everything and question conventional wisdom. This is what drove us to re-imagine the control concept of our KLUDI COCKPIT Discovery shower system from the ground up. Our aim was to make it as simple and convenient as possible – for everyone, regardless of their age and capabilities.

The large controls are designed to fit your hand perfectly, providing a secure grip. They are positioned at a convenient height so that young shower users won't have any difficulties either. The 40° rearward tilt significantly improves handling and ease of use.

The shape of the handheld shower also reflects ergonomic principles. The handle design and its rounded edges make it a pleasure to hold.

Ergonomics

Minimalist design and sophisticated functionality

With its minimalist shapes, smooth lines and elegant curves, the KLUDI COCKPIT Discovery shower system transforms any bathroom into a stylish place to relax. Thanks to its astonishingly streamlined form, the COCKPIT appears to float in the air and lends the room a comforting lightness. This impression is amplified by the extremely slim silhouette of the large head shower, whose soft edges mirror those of the handheld shower. The controls themselves are integrated in a generously sized and convenient shelf, which offers additional functionality.

Design

Premium finish and sustainable materials

Like our other products, the KLUDI COCKPIT Discovery epitomises precision finishing, outstanding manufacturing quality made in Germany, and the use of premium, durable materials. The shelf, for example, is made of 100 percent recyclable aluminium. The premium E-coating significantly enhances corrosion protection and durability. The powder-coating finish gives the surface its elegant sheen.

We have avoided using plastic wherever possible. The controls and shower wall bracket, for instance, are made of die-cast zinc. In addition, KLUDI has developed the first completely plastic-free packaging concept for the shower system. KLUDI COCKPIT Discovery clearly sets standards in every respect.

Our quality standard – KLUDI added value

Every KLUDI product embodies five values: workmanship, versatility plus, attention to detail, brilliance and heart. They make every product a miniature masterpiece. Functionality is the priority at all times – and we always start with the customer’s perspective. The results are fittings that redefine quality standards for both users and installers.
